

WHEN WE KEPT STORE.

Do you remember, Brother Joe, the dear old days when we embarked in brisk commercial life, as hopeful as could be?

Investing all the hoarded wealth of copper cents and dimes, and going into bankruptcy at least a dozen times?

A dozen times, at least, I say, but fancy it was more.

We failed and ate our stock of goods, when we kept store.

We opened in the coal house once, with eighteen gaudy sticks.

Of candy in an old fruit jar. (A nickel purchased six,

And having 15 cents we stocked as far as it would go.

Buying direct from Mr. Mears, the grocery man, you know.)

But not a customer appeared, I very much deplore

To say, in fact, none ever came

When we kept store.

One time you sold your rags and bones, and I gave you a whip

Which you had coveted, for half a working partnership,

And, involving some peppermint, some pins and indigo.

We opened in the haymow with our spirits all aglow.

We thought the pins and blue would lure housekeepers by the score.

But ne'er a person came to buy,

When we kept store.

We vigorously advertised in sheets most neatly penned,

But if the people read our bills they did not comprehend.

Or, comprehending, trusted not merchants of tender years.

But most discouragingly stuck (in trade) to Mr. Mears,

Driving us by the scantiness of patronage once more

To eat our edible assets,

When we kept store.

Trading in wheat, I've managed to lay up a fair amount,

And you, I understand, possess a pretty bank account.

Kind Providence has treated us extremely well as men,

But sometimes I look back and wish that once, just once again,

We two might, for an hour or so, be boys just as before,

Eating the stock which failed to sell,

When we kept store.

TAILINGS FROM YAVAPAI.

Scattering Notes Picked Up By The Republican Traveler.

Prescott, Nov. 23.—(Special correspondence of The Republican.)—At every turn the writer hears the remark "I am loaded up with literature, and the Republican ranks as the best Arizona paper on my file." If our eastern friends were as well posted on Arizona as the average English speaking miner is on national and foreign affairs we would not hear of the ignorance displayed regarding this territory as is painfully apparent among the people of the states. It is often found that some persons take as many as seven or eight papers and one or more magazines, clearly in evidence that Arizona is not the "totally depraved" class that easterners believe them to be.

John M. Leary, who died at Jerome last week, had led a checkered career for several years prior to his death. He was engaged in the shoe business in Tombstone up to 1893 when he moved his stock to Albuquerque, N. M., and opened a store, later on moving to larger quarters. He drank heavily at times and was very quarrelsome while on a spree. Intervention of friends alone prevented his getting into trouble, but one day he displayed his nature to the extent of cutting a saloon man, which eventually placed Leary in the pen. His conduct in prison under restraining influences was most exemplary and led to the granting of a pardon by Acting Governor Lorton Miller. On coming out Leary found his business in a bad shape. He went about straightening things up and entered into a partnership with Alphonse Stimpier, Leary turning over the remnant of his stock for an interest. The partnership continued but a few months and then Leary went to Butte, into California, Mexico and back to Arizona. When the writer met him he was in Congress and he had just emerged from a week's spree. He then went to Prescott, where he again took to drinking, picking up a few dollars for labor performed on the bench and from the sale of leather. Two months ago he went to Jerome where it would appear that he continued the habit that led to his taking off. He frequently told the writer that he had money on deposit in the Bank of Commerce, Albuquerque, this accruing from sums paid over by parties who owed him. It is understood that he has a sister in Wisconsin. Leary was of a pleasant temperament and while in Albuquerque had a number of close friends. His great fault was his disposition to drink. The disgrace of going to prison evidently had much to do with his course in the last year.

Tom Gates, formerly chef at the Commercial, Phoenix, later at the Hotel Burke here, is doing business for himself at the Comet cafe, being assisted by his wife. The Comet is doing a nice trade.

Councilman Barney Smith's three minute mare is now indulging in Salt River valley alfalfa and will sojourn in Phoenix for the winter.

PH Little of Kingman and Fred Satties started their mares Mollie Queen and Mollie for a mile trot at the race track on Friday. Quite a number of sports were on deck and a few bets were indulged in. Little's Queen won and the Prescott chaps dropped some dough.

The local lodge of Elks will have a great time on Wednesday evening at Duke's opera house. A ball and banquet is outlined. Forty-three Elks will be down from Jerome to attend. The Republican correspondent acknowledges an invitation.

Fred Brecht has purchased the freighting outfit of the late James Brecht, which was sold today at administrator's sale. Brecht, Joe Mayer and Bashford & Burmister had claims to cover the amount realized, which was $2,200 for 50 horses, several wagons, etc. It was inventoried at $3,500. Bruce had the contract to team each way to and from Prescott, with Mayer, Peck district, Gladiator and Crowned King.

E. H. Kenyon has sold out the Skull Valley eating house to T. W. Strobridge of Los Angeles, and will leave in a few days for Phoenix where he will remain. Mr. Strobridge, who will take charge Dec. 1, is laying in supplies purchased at Phoenix and Prescott. He will improve the house in every department and have The Republican on file.

Frank M. Jones of Albuquerque and Santa Fe, N. M., was in Congress on Sunday and Monday, and will go to Prescott to look up a location. Mrs. Jones is in Phoenix.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

A Simple Harmless Remedy—Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach trouble, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

An actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars' worth of patent medicines and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know, when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized package 50 cents. A little book on cause and cure of stomach troubles mailed free by addressing The Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.
